Press release from: School for Startups

(London, UK) Doug Richard's School for Startups, together with O2, presents "Find, Pitch & Close Live!" a free, interactive, online Entrepreneur Surgery designed to help startups pitch their businesses to angel investors and venture capitalists more effectively. Entrepreneurs can register now for the free November 18 S4Stv event at www.schoolforstartups.co.uk.

"Find, Pitch & Close Live!" is an online broadcast of a portion of the "Find, Pitch & Close: The Art of Securing investment" course being delivered to hundreds of entrepreneurs on 18 November 2009 from Noon to 8:30pm. Details of the face-to-face course can be found at www.schoolforstartups.co.uk.

Doug Richard says, "The "Find, Pitch & Close: The Art of Securing Investment" class will help innovators and entrepreneurs find funding to launch or expand their businesses. They will learn how to leverage the realities of the current economy to make raising investment easier, calculate how much money they need, find and approach investors, craft and deliver the perfect pitch, interview an investor to ensure they will be a good financial partner, and avoid the three biggest mistakes they can make in taking investment."

Training will be delivered by Doug Richard and Brent Hoberman, founder of lastminute.com and PROfounders Capital, two sources of financing for startups and growing businesses.

Training will be delivered in the Royal Institute's newly remodeled state-of-the-art training facilities at 21 Albemarle Street, London W1S 4BS. A Dragons Den Style "entrepreneur surgery" is incorporated into the 8 hours of training delivered in the course. This surgery will also be made available to entrepreneurs worldwide through the O2 sponsored S4Stv channel.

To sign up to attend the course, entrepreneurs should visit www.schoolforstartups.co.uk. Those who wish to watch the surgery on S4Stv should also visit www.schoolforstartups.co.uk for complete details on how to register for online access.
