Agency: ROI Marketing

New dedicated pre-sales position solidifies the company's strength and presence in mobile computing, bar code and wireless solutions within Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Iowa.

Illinois - ADSI, a leading systems integrator of distribution, wireless and shipping automation announced today that Mr. Jeff Kukkola has joined the company as Systems Engineer. Mr. Kukkola will be instrumental in expanding ADSI's commitment to field mobility, multi-carrier shipping solution, warehouse/distribution solutions and complete systems integration within Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northern Iowa.

"ADSI is very pleased to have Mr. Jeff Kukkola join our team," said Bob Fischer, president of ADSI. "Jeff brings with him technical expertise in mobile computing, bar code scanning, RFID and wireless infrastructure that will benefit new and existing customers. We have attracted strong talent with industry, hardware and software experience and are very excited to add Jeff Kukkola to the ADSI team."

Prior to his new position as ADSI, Jeff worked as a Senior Presales Technical Architect for Motorola. Jeff had the unique ability to support Motorola and its field partners on hardware, software and systems integration due to his previous experience. Mr. Kukkola will be responsible for supporting ADSI's new business development and problem resolution. Jeff Kukkola is RFID Certified and brings over 20 years of hardware, software, ERP, WMS integration and network expertise to the manufacturing, warehouse, distribution, transportation and logistics industries.
