Chicago -- Advanced gamers and beginners young and old are downloading millions of games at a new web site with over 1 billion titles that are legally available to members of the site.

The gamers have found www.officialmoviedownloads.com/gameradvanced/ where they can legally download millions of games from all the popular game categories. These include:

- First Person Shooters
- Demo Games
- Action Games
- Strategy Games
- Role-Playing Games
- Sports Games
- Driving Games
- Adventure Games
- Simulations
- Puzzle Games
- Games for Kids

"We give gamers what they want -- unlimited downloads," said Tim Foss, founder of the web site. "These are complete games, not demos. We offer legal software games, as well as other software and music downloads."

Visitors to the site begin with unlimited searches for any type of games. The site boasts the highest number of available files for free download to members, as well as accelerated downloads.

The web site provides the latest information on how to easily play any downloaded game, song, movie or television show. Members also have access to software to easily and legally burn video games, music and movies to CD, so there is no expensive DVD burner required.

The membership fee is only paid once. It is not a subscription, and there are no payments per download. After making the one-time membership payment members get unlimited downloads with no additional charge. The site offers a 60-day, full refund guarantee.
