London – September 25, 2006 - In a show of unity, 2008 US Presidential Candidate Daniel Imperato announced his formation of the Imperato Association for Strategic Studies for the United States, Africa, European Union, and Middle East dialogue.

"Today marks the beginning of what will be a landmark organization pertaining to inter-religious, business, and political dialogue, with strategic evaluations and applications. Our association will enable governments from around the world to call on us for discussion, interpretation, and resolution of how the best approaches should be executed pertaining to the turbulence within the regions that cause further unwarranted complications by and between the United States, the EU, Africa, and the Middle East."

This association is being lead by its Chairman and Founder, Daniel Imperato, a US Presidential Candidate for 2008, with an astute knowledge of business, religion, and politics from a diversified education earned and collected from 30 years of extensive travel and hands-on experience with the subject matters regarding the regions focused on.

The Vice-Chairman of the Association will be Mr. Nasser Al-Maisari, world-renowned Middle East business leader, who has an outstanding track record and knowledge of the Middle Eastern, religious, political, and business acumens with over 30 years of international travel.

Mr. Al-Maisari, a long time family friend of Imperato, brings Arabic heritage, good relations with business and political leaders within the Middle East, and the ability to bring together societies from around the world in order to create solutions to strengthen diplomatic relations across all borders.

Mr. Al-Maisari brings with him long time friend and business leader, Mr. Ahmed Seif Al-Ayat, Middle Easterner based in Cairo, with organization in London and family and children in the United States.

Mr. Ahmed Seif Al-Ayat, who will serve as a board member, will add a another dimension to the association in order to dissect and intertwine the meanings of which we as an association feel have been misinterpreted, not handled properly and diplomatically with understanding particularly of the people.

Mr. Ahmed Seif Al-Ayat also brings 30 years of intense travel and knowledge of EU, Middle East, and USA through citizenship, marriage, and multiple business activities within the regions.

In addition, Imperato added his friend of 25 years, expert Emman Ebosie, to the board of the Imperato Association. Ebosie, a Nigerian born businessman who has over 30 years of extensive travel around the world, knowledge of the globe, has adapted himself and aligned himself to assist both business leaders, religious leaders, and political leaders throughout the continent of Africa.

Mr. Ebosie has a very strong and keen knowledge of the law of the land, the political environment and the religious sectors amongst his additional relations from around the globe with family in New York, friends and associates from around the globe, and impeccable diplomatic demeanor and strong ties to world leaders specifically throughout the African continent.

Emman Ebosie agreed to participate with the Imperato association during the UN General Assembly in New York. Mr. Ebosie will bring a phenomenal, invaluable, wealth of knowledge, understanding and relations to the association that will bring the basis of the team who are launching the Imperato association for dialogue and strategic studies for the US EU, Africa, and the Middle East.

The association looks to create effective change in world policy, mutual respect, and understanding for all with dignity and integrity.

The Imperato Association is established from a collective group of intelligent businessmen with interlinked relations established for over 30 years and knowledge of each other's abilities and strength which will collectively provide an unmatched capability to provide service and advice to the US, EU, African and Middle East Communities second to none.

The Association will be collectively seeking additional members and have already identified some. Any questions pertaining to the association or capabilities provided by the association should be addressed to Daniel Imperato at 561-644-1836.
