Simply Learning Tuition has rebranded with the launch of a colourful new website to introduce new mentoring and tutorial services. The company has also announced its listing on plebble– a leading web-based business ratings site.

Says Simply Learning Tuition Director, Nathaniel McCullagh, “We’re thrilled about the new branding – it’s a good thing because it better showcases our services and reflects the developments of the past busy year. We’re a bright young company offering service levels and response times that our clients tell us exceed their expectations and experiences elsewhere. Our new site reflects this: it’s faster, and more streamlined, making it easier for parents to navigate and see how best tutors can help them.”

Simply Learning Tuition’s core services remain unchanged: supplying friendly and experienced private tutors for pre-school, 11+, Common Entrance, GCSE, A-Level, International Baccalaureate and degree level. However, the new site shows more clearly how Simply Learning Tuition’s services go far beyond regular tuition. Says Nathaniel McCullagh, “We supply specialist tutors to work with children who have SEN’s including Dyslexia and Dyspraxia. We also run a mentoring program that can offer practical support to children who are having trouble finding the right path. There has been a great interest in this program because it recognises that academic problems often have roots in other areas. Children are often under such intense pressure to perform and conform that they can become overwhelmed and give up. Our mentors offer a helping hand to boost confidence and motivation. The ultimate aim is to bring the child back to the point at which they can enjoy learning.” For more information on the mentoring program, visit www.simplylearningtuition.co.uk/complimentary-services/mentoring-courses.php or call +44 (0) 207 228 2646.

Asked whether he thought rebranding was important Nathaniel said, ‘ Well, it’s certainly raised our online presence. We’re already receiving an increased level of enquiries about tutors for summer 2010 and many existing clients are telling us that they really like the new site. It’s also allowed us to add client testimonials of which we are very proud. We’ve also signed up to the independent ratings website plebble, which allows clients and our tutors to rate us anonymously and independently. For more information visit plebble (www.plebble.com)
