Berlin/Madrid, 26 January 2010 – The Spanish translation company Hermes Traducciones has announced the introduction of Plunet BusinessManager as the company's central solution for business and translation management.

As one of the leading companies on the Iberian Peninsula with offices in Madrid and Malaga, Hermes consistently sets highest quality standards during the planning, management and controlling of translation projects.

"We decided to opt for Plunet because we had project management and financial controlling data coming from different sources, which resulted in a slower operation. With Plunet we have been able to consolidate all these data and made them compatible with our translation project workflow based on the European Quality Standard EN 15038 for translation services and on our proprietary quality and productivity system. This Plunet-based solution platform will help us greatly increase our productivity thanks to the time we will save in management tasks", explains Juan José Arevalillo, CEO of Hermes Traducciones.

Bastian Enners, Plunet Sales Manager for Europe, adds: "We are thrilled to welcome Hermes Traducciones as a new customer. With the Plunet BusinessManager, it is possible to optimize all business-related processes at translation companies. From sales and marketing, through project management and on to financial controlling and senior management, our solution increases productivity and cost-effectiveness right across the company. Hermes will no doubt enjoy the long-term benefits of this."
