Growing Stars Inc., the premier provider of Online Tutoring Services, is delighted to announce that it is extending its popular One-Month, Risk-Free, Online Tutoring Offer for the month of February 2010.

One Month, Risk-Free Trial offer got enormous response from parents in the month of January. So Growing Stars decided to extend the offer for the month of February.

Customers who enroll with this offer get eight scheduled tutoring sessions (two per week), everyday homework help, an Initial Assessment Test, access to Growing Stars Classroom Software, and periodic conferences with Growing Stars' Academic Directors. The customer needs to pay only if completely satisfied at the end of the one-month risk-free trial period. This offer comes with absolutely no long-term contracts.

Growing Stars' highly qualified teachers closely monitor each child's progress and follow up with the student's parents on a regular basis, ensuring that the child acquires the skills that are needed to excel academically.

Gracing the occasion, Mr. Biju Mathew, CEO of Growing Stars Inc said, "We are thrilled with the response we got for the Risk-Free offer and that's why we have decided to extend it for another month. We hope that more parents will use this opportunity to enroll their children and help them develop a renewed interest in learning, and develop self-confidence, leading to better grades at school. We look forward to continuing our collaboration with customers, to make sure that we continue together on the path to success in school and beyond."
