LVIV, Ukraine – March 11, 2010 – The world's largest IT exhibition of the year CeBIT (Centrum der Büro- und Informationstechnik; German for "Centre of Office and Information technology") has taken place in Hannover expo center, March 2-6.

Lots of the world's biggest IT companies presented themselves on the fair together with smaller ones from all over the world. Companies represented new products and technologies, new trends in IT industry were determined as well. This year CeBIT hosted 4, 157 exhibitors from 68 countries in accordance to CeBIT officials. Nevertheless the number of visitors has decreased in comparison even with the last year and amounted close to 334,000 people, last year this number was approximated to 400,000 visitors. During the best years of CeBIT in 2000-2002, it hosted twice more exhibitors than in 2010.

N-iX has attended CeBIT expo for the second time as an exhibitor. Our company's stand was located in exhibition Hall 2, where mostly an open source technologies were presented. In the neighborhood of us you could find such brands and companies as IBM, DELL, Firefox, Joomla, Amazon web services and others. Together with the presence at this greatest IT fair of the year, we have got the possibility of direct communication with our perspective clients and an access to all newest information concerning digital business. During five exhibition days we have gathered lots of business contacts and look forward for a further collaboration with them.

The expo has had a great success among visitors and exhibitors as always and CeBIT officials have already made some sketches for CeBIT expo 2011.
