Optial launches its new KPIs & performance management capability

London, England: - Optial, the Operational Risk specialists, announced today that it has launched its new Key Performance Indicators and performance management capability.

Optial's powerful Business Intelligence solution, OBI, has been further enhanced to incorporate Key Performance Indicators powered by Microsoft SQL Server Analysis Services. KPI templates can be defined to report across any data held within the Optial repository such as Incidents, Risks, Compliance, Audit, KRI's, and Business Continuity Management, providing the business user with valuable performance based information across a whole range of reporting criteria.

Commenting on this new capability Chris O'Brien, CEO of Optial said: "Risk Management systems such as Optial are increasingly expected to add wider value by ensuring that all data captured can provide real management information at all levels in the hierarchy. The new KPI capability from Optial allows business users to compare current KPI values against ongoing goals and determine how KPI's are trending over time and assess performance management within the business. Implementing KPIs through the OBI platform empowers the business user with yet another powerful and stylish management reporting option."

Optial (www.optial.com) is a leading supplier of enterprise-wide Governance, Risk and Compliance (GRC) and Operational Risk Management (ORM) solutions for all types of business. Our products have been implemented in over 50 countries by companies such as Skandinaviska Enskilda Banken AB (SEB), Atos Worldline and Standard Chartered Bank. Our customers benefit from the flexibility of the Optial platform and the consultative approach taken by our consultants to guide them through to successful deployment.

Optial is headquartered in London with offices in Atlanta and Sydney.

Optial offers a platform for managing key business assurance activities – more efficiently and more effectively. Optial is web-based and modular, providing a rapid delivery, low-cost deployment and low maintenance solution, while supporting full enterprise-wide scalability. It allows organisations to better manage their operational risk, control and compliance activities in response to a wide range of industry specific regulatory and governance requirements such as Basel II, Solvency II, MiFID and AML, as well as others which apply more broadly like Sarbanes-Oxley and COBIT. Optial adds value across multiple sectors such as banking, insurance and asset management, as well as non-finance areas such as rail, pharmaceuticals and oil & gas. In addition Optial provides a sound platform for EHS compliance across all industries.
