In their recent newsletter, Oxford SEO consultants, Momentum Web Solutions, (momentumws.co.uk) announced their partnership with Digital Marketing Specialists, Surefire Digital, to provide tailored search engine optimisation research and recommendations to their business clients.

Surefire Digital was founded by Rob Jones to provide trustworthy, unbiased advice for companies who wish to improve the performance of their websites. Specialising in the strategic planning of digital marketing campaigns, Rob connects businesses with web professionals that he trusts and have proven to be reliable.

Rob Jones, founder of Surefire Digital, commented on the partnership with Momentum:

“When a client needs specialist SEO work, I introduce them to Momentum, and have done this several times in the last year. One of these clients had been spending tens of thousands of pounds a year on PPC, but nothing on organic SEO. I couldn’t recommend Momentum fast enough when I saw that!

“I’ve got to know and trust the Momentum team. Momentum is also highly recommended. I feel confident in recommending you to my clients when they need an SEO specialist.”

Jonathan Fink, Momentum’s Managing Director, said, “We are delighted to partner with Surefire Digital in the provision of specialist SEO services to their clients. It’s a great partnership, as digital marketing and SEO go hand-in-hand. In fact, we’ve just conducted a series of interviews with Rob about social media and digital marketing strategy so we can provide practical advice to our own clients.”
