Fire Safety is one of the key features that come into picture when discussing Safety in a working culture. A study suggests that most of the accidents can be prevented if a proactive approach is observed by all the people involved in a project. Fire Safety is a joint approach and works best with all the relevant entities performing their roles effectively. The government particularly working on the design and architectural issues before licensing the project, the industry leader, contractors and sub-contractors abiding by the safety regulations along with the finest fire safety models and technologies, can evade the loss of human assets and property to disasters.

Fleming Gulf, organisers of the immensely successful Annual Health, Safety & Environment series in the Middle East Oil, Gas & Petrochemicals over 5 successful years, is proud to launch its event focused purely on Fire & Safety. The event will bring together government representations, Oil and Gas, Construction and Architectural Design Firms, Hospitality Industry from different regions emphasising on what are the codes and practices which need to be addressed in order to assure fire safety in an organization. Learning about the latest technologies available in terms of fire alarms, smoke detectors and sprinklers, enhancing the architectural designing in order to inculcate all possible aspects of fire safety, disaster recovery and business continuity post an incident, will be completely debated at Middle East Fire & Safety Conference, from 27-28 September ,Dubai.

“With its theme of -Creating a safe, accident-free working environment- the event will indeed offer an unravelled opportunity to not only reflect on where we are today but more importantly to focus on the road ahead and sketch the future landscape. With the support of Society of Fire Protection Engineers and with sponsors like Wagner Fire Safety Management Consultants, Seacor Environmental Services Middle East, Totem the event will provide the Fire & Safety community with necessary stepping stones to enhance skills and performance through a series of thought provoking debates, unflinching presentations, enlightening case studies and focused workshops delivered by an unmatched speaker faculty: Abu Dhabi Civil Defence, Dubai Civil Defence, Dubai Police, Emirates National Oil Company (ENOC), Kuwait Oil Company, Department of Transport Abu Dhabi, BAPCO, Al Habtoor Leighton Group, SCADIA, Atkins, Qatar Project Management, Seacor Environmental Services Middle East, Wagner Consulting, Totem International Ltd, COWI, Qatar Shell Pearl GTL Project, Weatherford” commented Jumana Mashraqui Conference Producer at Fleming Gulf and responsible for this event.
