SEO consultants, Momentum, join forces with email newsletter writing and distribution providers, Appletree and Just Add Content. In their recent newsletter, Oxford SEO consultants, Momentum Web Solutions, announced their partnership with Appletree, whose newsletter distribution service, Just Add Content, is supplemented by Appletree's additional writing services. Just Add Content was bought from the developer by Chantal Cornelius six years ago to provide an email distribution service with a difference. Having purchased the templating and distribution software, her background in marketing brought with it the experience in content creation that her clients value for the success of their newsletters. Businesses can write and upload their own content with JAC's DIY level service, or have Appletree's dedicated newsletter writers produce monthly newsletter content following an interview and planning session every 3-4 months. Managing Director of Momentum, Jonathan Fink, says of the partnership: 'Appletree and JAC are our preferred email newsletter supplier, for the ease of distribution of our email newsletters, and for the writing services they can offer our clients.'
