Assessing strategies to prevent healthcare-associated infections

Bellevue, WA – Pharmacy OneSource, software-as-a-service provider of Senti7, a web-based, real-time infection prevention surveillance, documentation and reporting system, is pleased to announce a complimentary webinar, "New Research on Preventing Hospital Infection" presented by Betsy McCaughey, Ph.D.

McCaughey, former Lieutenant Governor of New York State and Chairman/Founder of the Committee to Reduce Infection Deaths (RID), will review the latest research on healthcare-associated infections and the newest strategies to prevent them.

New Research on Preventing Hospital Infection

DATE: Wednesday, August 11, 2010

TIME: 1:00 PM - 2:00 PM EDT

WHERE: www.senti7.com/infection

About the Presenter: Dr. Betsy McCaughey is a health policy expert and former Lt. Governor of New York State. In 2004, she founded the Committee to Reduce Infection Deaths (www.hospitalinfection.org), a nationwide educational campaign to stop hospital-acquired infections. She serves as the CEO and Chairman of the organization. In three years, RID has made hospital infections a major public issue, provided compelling evidence that preventing infection improves hospital profitability as well as saving lives, and won legislation in over 20 states for public reporting of infection rates. RID has become synonymous with patient safety and clean hospital care.

Dr. McCaughey's research on how to prevent infection deaths has been featured on Good Morning America, the CBS Morning Show, ABC's 20/20, and many other national programs. She has appeared on Fox News Network's Hannity & Colmes, The O'Reilly Factor, CNN's Talk Back Live, and numerous radio programs.
