Tuner Tools, llc has become a corporate sponsor for Race Video Forums - racevideoforums.com

Race Video Forums specializes in gathering, posting, linking and displaying fresh video content with a focus on automotive racing, performance and action videos from all over the world. This mix includes street racing scenes and other videos of interest to racers and tuners everywhere (Victoria's Secret Fashion show anyone?)

With the racing videos as the main draw, these forums also host a rich and active blend of technical tuning advice and discussion threads on all automotive related topics.

Tuner Tools, llc is pleased to be able to sponsor forums and online communities where true "open source" development of tuning and performance products is still practiced. The engineers in the corporate manufacturer's offices may be proud of their work, but these communities support the real world testing and improvements on those (often) stale designs.
