Indianapolis, IN August 25, 2010 --- Young and Young one of the leading consumer personal injury law firms in Indianapolis, has announced scholarship endowments for 2 Hoosier Universities.

Two scholarships are either fully endowed or in the process of being fully endowed at Marian University, Indianapolis, in the name of our Father Howard S. Young, Jr., and our Mother Mary A. Young. Both attorneys dedicated their professional lives to helping Hoosiers. These endowments are being made possible through contributions by the Young and Young law firm and through individual contributions. The scholarships will help deserving Hoosiers obtain an education so that they may go forth and help others.

In addition Richard (Drew) Young has a fully endowed scholarship in his name at the I.U. Law School at Indianapolis. This is for contribution towards the tuition of a law student at that school.
