(Countryside, Ill.-August 31, 2010) Kevin Doyle, co-founder of 3 Points LLC, has been chosen to receive the Entrepreneurial Excellence Award (EEA) in the Young Entrepreneur category from The Business Ledger, a bi-weekly business publication which serves DuPage, Kane, Will and suburban Cook counties. He will be honored at a September 16 awards reception at Danada House in Wheaton.

Kevin Doyle co-founded 3 Points LLC in 2002. He enjoys helping small business owners grow their business through the use of technology. For the last decade, he has worked hard to become an industry expert and trusted advisor to over 200 Chicago land small businesses. Doyle also recently started, The Sheilah A. Doyle Foundation, a not-for profit organization providing support and assistance to children ages 7-17 whose parent or legal guardian became the victim of murder. The foundation also awards college scholarships those children looking to further their education after high school. Doyle lost his mother to a murder in July of 1993. Through his experience, he believes he can be a role model to others who have experienced similar tragedies.

“We are again pleased to recognize the important role of entrepreneurs in our dynamic suburban community through this awards program,” said Jeremy Stoltz, editor of The Business Ledger. “That we are honoring 21 men and women who have contributed greatly to the economic strength of this area is in keeping with our mission of telling the stories of successful business owners and executives. “It’s further testimony to the great diversity of our area that so many industries and businesses are represented by our honorees, showing why our suburban area is at the forefront of entrepreneurship.”
