Michael Smith, Level 3 Director with Coastal Vacations, announces his new mentorship program for individuals seeking to begin a home based business. Smith is a proven leader with his involvement in numerous businesses and pastoral positions.

When asked why he is beginning a mentorship program, Smith stated “At the center of my continued success in different business endeavors was a mentor relationship. Someone took the time to invest their knowledge and expertise into me out of a desire to see me succeed. It was this transfer of knowledge that I was able leverage for my success in the particular field that I was operating in.”

“Our culture is in the midst of an occupational transformation” adds Smith. Individuals are tired of fattening the bottom line of the companies that employ them just to be downsized at a future date. Rather than facing an occupational crisis in the prime years of a person’s life, many people are devising ways to become self-employed by working from home. The power of the internet coupled with an individual’s determination to experience financial and personal freedom make people’s self employment dreams a reality.

“The purpose of my mentoring program is to assist people in transitioning out of the corporate world and into their own successful home based business” says Smith. “The pending reality of being downsized is very real for anyone who is blindly loyal to their employer. I have met countless numbers of people who devoted themselves to their employer only to be fired due to a multitude of common reasons. It is unfortunate that unwavering trust between employee and employers is no longer present in the work environment. Because of this, it is my goal to help people depend on their own efforts in home based businesses to gain the success that they truly desire.”

The people Smith encounters are highly intelligent and personable people. Despite this, Smith asserts “starting a home based business is a lot like learning a whole new set of occupational skills. That is why it is critically important to align yourself with a mentor who will carefully infuse his or her knowledge and learned experiences into you. Attempting to begin a home based business without a mentor is a chance too many people are willing to take. Your long-term success depends on the foundation you build your business on. Utilizing my mentorship program will lay the right foundation from which you can build a highly successful home business.”

It is very common to spend a hefty price for a trained professional to enter into a mentoring relationship with you. Smith does not charge anything for this service. He provides it for anyone who joins his Lifetime Coastal Vacations sales team.
