Las Vegas, NV – January 26, 2007 – Today, 2008 Presidential Candidate Daniel Imperato announced that he will be an honored guest at the annual Children's Miracle Network – Miss America "Evening of Dreams" Dinner on Sunday January 28, 2007 at the Aladdin Casino & Resort in the heart of Las Vegas.

"I am happy that the Children's Miracle Network asked me to be a part of this. I believe that they are one of the best charities in the country and a model for all others to follow," said Imperato.

This year, the new Miss America will be the Official Goodwill Ambassador for Children's Miracle Network as she raises funds and awareness for both Children's Miracle Network and the Miss America Scholarship Program along with bringing awareness to her personal platform.

Imperato thought that it was the right moves to have Miss America dedicate herself to the Children's Miracle Network as a Goodwill Ambassador.

"I think that it's important for our children to have positive role models and people trying to make a positive impact in their lives....Our children are the future of this country and we need to do everything we can to help save lives and build America for the future."

The Children's Miracle Network—the alliance of premier hospitals for children—is a non-profit organization dedicated to saving and improving the lives of children by raising funds for children's hospitals across North America. Each year the 170 Children's Miracle Network hospitals provide the finest medical care, life-saving research and preventative education to help millions of kids overcome diseases and injuries of every kind.
