The 2007 Petronas Malaysia Formula One Grand Prix is just around the corner and those who still don't have a ticket can now have a chance to get one. All they have to do is attend the F1 Party at Zouk in Kuala Lumpur, join in the games, and they just might win a F1 ticket! Happening on April 6, 2007 at Zouk Kuala Lumpur at 8:00 PM onwards, the F1 Party with DiGi – one of Malaysia's leading provider of wireless services – will be the hottest party in Kuala Lumpur this month in celebration of the Malaysian Grand Prix 2007.

This will be a night full of fun and games as DiGi Telecommunications in collaboration with the Sepang International Circuit -- the venue of the Malaysian Grand Prix – is providing great entertainment guaranteed to be as exciting and exhilarating as the F1 race. A total of 6,000 F1 tickets will be up for grabs during the party.

The Malaysia Formula One Grand Prix will happen this April 6 to 8 in Sepang, Malaysia. This will be the second round of the 2007 Formula One World Championship series, which started in Melbourne, Australia last March 18. Last month's Australian Grand Prix saw Kimi Raikkonen of Finland beat defending world champion Fernando Alonso of Spain for the title.

Official F1 Teams Testing just ended last March 30 at the Sepang International Circuit with Heikki Kovalainen of Finland as the fastest driver clocking in at 1 minute and 35.757 seconds. He was followed by Felipe Massa of Brazil who clocked in at 1 minute and 35.808 seconds.

F1 fans outside Kuala Lumpur and Sepang who plan to stay near where the action is can look for accommodations at The Federal Hotel. This affordable hotel is located right in the heart of Kuala Lumpur so going to and from the F1 race won't be a hassle. For online bookings, visitors can log on to: www.federalkualalumpur.com.
