Orem, Utah – The annual ZYTO (tm) bio-technology conference for healthcare practitioners will include a presentation by Dr. Paul Ling Tai, DPM, FACFS, ABPS, entitled “The Powerful Secrets of Natural Bio-Phyto Hormones for the Ultimate Anti-Aging Program.”

The presentation is just one of many that will be given at a three-day conference for doctors and healthcare practitioners of all types. The conference will take place in Park City, according to Dr. Vaughn R Cook, OMD, president and founder of ZYTO Corp. (OTC - ZYTC.pk).

There is no charge to attend the conference, which will feature presentations from noted medical, healthcare, and healthcare practice marketing experts. Details of the conference can be found online at www.ZYTO.com

As the Baby Boomers continue to age, more women will be joining the menopause group and men will be joining the andropause population. The human body produces over 100 very active, very different hormones – all performing trillions of key biologic functions, according to Tai.

“All your energy and vitality, the building of strong bones, control of stress, fatigue, and your immune system are all defined by your hormones. They give you your characteristic masculinity or femininity. As we age, the glands producing hormones get tired and produce less and less, affecting your once vibrant body to become fragile and weak,” explained Tai.

His presentation will describe the bio-phyto hormones that are used for the ultimate anti-aging program.

“It is natural to grow old, but you do not have to feel old or suffer the effects of aging,” said Tai.

“Let the Evolution Begin” is the theme for conference to be held on May 3, 4, and 5 at the Zermatt Resort and Spa. The Zermatt is a picturesque destination with year-round recreation, including 90 holes of PGA championship golf at three locations, three reservoirs for all types of water sports, blue-ribbon fly fishing, rafting, and hundreds of miles of trails for mountain biking, horseback riding and hiking.

ZYTO Corp. was founded by Dr. Vaughn Cook, OMD. The company provides computerized bio-technology equipment and software that facilitates obtaining information from the human body to assist healthcare practitioners in making better decisions.
