POINT ROBERTS, WA and DELTA, BC – May 4, 2007, InvestorIdeas.com, and oil and gas portals OilandGasStockNews.com, NaturalGasStocks.com, announce its upcoming online investor conference on the ‘Future of Energy’ available June 6th, 2007, starting at 9:00 am EST and archived thereafter. The online conference will include presentations (audio with accompanying slides) from various oil and gas experts as well as public companies providing in-depth perspectives on trends and growth within the energy sector.

With the summer driving season just around the corner, the demand for oil is expected to continue to support high price levels. The upcoming summer months also mean an increase in the use of air conditioning, escalating the demand for natural gas. In both oil and gas the need for further exploration, development and production to increase domestic supplies have established a growing number of opportunities for companies operating in the energy sector.
