San Diego, CA., May 25, 2007 -- EMR Experts, Inc. has announced the offering of new EMR integrated patient portal websites for doctors. This capability is brought to doctors through the recent acquisition of a high quality web design firm, now known as Medical Web Experts. Each website is custom built to suit the clients' exact needs, without using out-of-the-box templates which most of the competition uses.

With the ever-increasing need to automate physician practices, doctors across the country are looking to Electronic Medical Record (EMR) software for help. One of the many benefits of the Electronic Medical Record packages is its online patient portal. The patient portal allows patients to complete their intake forms prior to their appointment, saving the patient from spending valuable time completing forms in the office. In addition having the intake form automatically populate the patients' chart eliminates double data entry, saving the practice countless hours. The other benefit of the patient portal is its ability to provide the patient with secure, HIPAA compliant access to their own medical record from anywhere in the world. The practice can define which elements the patient can access, typically including such things as lab results, current medications, health maintenance reminders, appointment requests, and prescription refill requests. Office staff spending countless hours dealing with these day to day issues over the phone becomes a thing of the past with the patient portal.

The websites can be purchased separately from an EMR or bundled with the EMR/Patient Portal solution of the clients' choice. Promotion pricing for these websites start at $99 per month plus a setup fee. If purchased with an EMR, this start up fee is waived. "Our goal is to provide physician practices with an affordable website that can integrate with their EMR and is not built using generic templates." says John Deutsch, founder of Medical Web Experts and Vice President of EMR Experts, Inc.

Medical Web Experts provides healthcare practices with customized, attractive, search engine optimized websites. Our highly skilled team of designers build custom websites that represent our clients' practice and specialty. With EMR reaching mainstream use in healthcare practices our websites are designed to easily integrate with the patient portal of most EMR systems. Our unique approach to internet marketing and Search Engine Optimization (SEO) ensure that our clients achieve top rankings in all the major search engines. Our websites also feature advanced management controls, giving the client the ability to customize their content, check traffic statistics and check email, without the assistance of a designer.
