Fort Worth, TX, June 18, 2007 -- Countless visual images discovered within Leonardo da Vinci's paintings and drawings. Optical illusions and what is believed to be a "Hologram Effect" created by artist/inventor Leonardo da Vinci, revealing gorillas and snakes on The Mona Lisa. A masked/scary face hidden within Virgin of the Rocks. Reptiles all over The Virgin and St. Anne... and much, much more. Just about every single work of art by this ingenious artist holds layer, upon layer of hidden images.

Discovered by L. A. Jansann. an artist obsessed with the belief that the unexplainable mystique of Mona Lisa and her alluring smile held far more secrets than first meets the eye. Which lead to an exhaustive examination of painting after painting, drawing after drawing, revealing a seemingly endless array of incredibly amazing hidden images.
