Thousands of individuals turn to Ebay each year for reselling items as a secondary source of income for their families. Critical to success on Ebay though is finding products to sell on a regular basis with high profit margins. A new search engine has evolved that solves this problems by uncovering 100's of flawed auctions daily that these individuals can double or triple their profits on.

Glen Burnie, Maryland - January 9, 2006 - Discovering profitable niches on Ebay is becoming increasing difficult as thousands of individuals turn to Ebay as a secondary source of income for their families.

As these new sellers quickly find out, Ebay is a great place to make money with as long as you can get your hands on a steady source of products or have a twist on something that is unique to others.

Without the proper tools or products these sellers soon come to realize that selling on Ebay is not as easy as it is made out to be. But with the right tools, Ebay does hold the potential for helping them increase their quality of living so they keep on searching for ways to make money with Ebay.

A new niche search tool ( www.affiliatevenuesources.com/ebay-tactics.html ) has been developed recently for helping these sellers identify a little known but highly profitable niche that some savvy sellers are currently using in uncovering these profitable items.

The software helps in identifying low-bid or no-bid auctions that have been listed with flaws in them making their products hard to find on Ebay except for the few who know how to locate them.

Once located, these items can then be:

- re-listed on Ebay correctly for profits that average double or triple.
- purchased for themselves to save up to 90% off of what they would normally pay.
- re-sold locally at yard-sales or flea markets if the seller doesn't want the bother of listing them on Ebay.

With a few clicks of their mouse, Ebay sellers can uncover just about any popular item selling on Ebay at a fraction of the normal cost with a regular auction listing as the auctions this search engine uncovers have very little, if not zero bidders for these popular items as they are flawed.

Unknowingly, the original sellers that have listed these items may believe that their products are just not popular, or just keep scratching their heads thinking why their items haven't sold as well as similar products.
