Dot Com Infoway is a software development company established in the year 1999.

It has mastered the fine distinction of the business world and it is a corporation that understands the customer requirements very well. Dot Com Infoway has chosen a strategic global model that delivers top services and finest quality products to the clients at reasonable prices. The company builds everlasting relationship with the clients by ensuring success and satisfaction.

Shipcom Wireless was founded in the year 1997. Since then it has become a leading provider of integrated supply chain execution software solutions focused on RFID and enterprise mobility markets. Shipcom has proven that the open standards platform, CATAMARAN is a server based solution that captures, filters, aggregates, transforms, and routes data from multiple devices such as RFID readers and barcode scanners and integrates it directly with enterprise systems such as Oracle, Provia, SAP and various legacy systems. Its software solutions also include reusable application libraries and more than 100 user friendly development tools. This enables the customers to configure the CATAMARAN platform easily to their particular needs.

Dot Com Infoway has bagged a contract from Shipcom Wireless for Web Maintenance. Dot Com Infoway has now strengthened its foray into the US market by looking into medium to large companies who outsource software development work to India.

Outsourcing to India has become common now-a-days. India has become the world's outsourcing center. It offers many competitive advantages to the market such as technology, quality, liveliness, cost control, and flexibility within no time. India is rich in talent. Currently India is exporting software to more than 95 countries around the world.

Dot Com Infoway CEO Mr. C. R. Venkatesh says "We plan to start our North American campaign soon and we are confident in becoming successful."
