Miami, FL 9/14/07 – Today the leading Independent Presidential Candidate announced that his profile was recently added to Univision's 2008 Presidential Election coverage.

Imperato has appeared at many Hispanic events, and was recently featured in "El Ultimo Café", a Spanish language program that runs on West Palm Beach Channel 57, an affiliate of MTV 3. In addition, Imperato has been featured in Que Pasa Bulletin (Los Angeles), Washington Hispanic (Washington D.C.), as well as several other Hispanic newspapers across the country.

"I am pleased that the Hispanic media has taken the initiative to allow third party and independent candidates a chance to reach the American people. I am a long time supporter of the Hispanic community and look forward to helping them in their lives as their next president," stated Imperato.

Imperato also marched with the US Hispanic population during the May 1, 2007 national rally for a path to citizenship for Hispanic migrant workers.

Univision is the largest the leading Spanish-language broadcast television network in the United States, reaching 99% of all U.S. Hispanic television households.

Imperato's profile can be viewed on the Univision Website with the link below:
