Texas (September 18, 2007) – The international law firm of Thompson & Knight congratulates John H. Martin and Jeffrey A. Zlotky on being named by the legal services information company Lawdragon to its list of “Leading Lawyers in America.” In its third annual guide, “The Lawdragon 500 Leading Lawyers in America” lists the nation's best legal professionals, including private lawyers, legal academics, non-profit attorneys, government lawyers, and judges in the U.S. The Lawdragon 500 represents less than 0.01 percent of the legal profession, and the company describes its list as the most elite group of legal professionals compiled in the country.

To select this prestigious group, Lawdragon's editorial staff conducts extensive research and calls thousands of legal professionals to solicit their opinions about who are the best lawyers. They then combine this research with votes collected through their online ballots to produce the Lawdragon 500 print magazine and online listing.

This year, Lawdragon also published the list of finalists for this honor because of the overwhelming response they received through the nomination process and the quality of attorneys selected as finalists. The following are Thompson & Knight attorneys who have been honored as Lawdragon 500 Leading Lawyers and Finalists:
