On October 7, 2007, Roman Jewelers in Renaissance Plaza, Flemington, NJ will host an educational program about naturally colored diamonds. Sam Mersamer, Executive Director of the NCDIA (Natural Color Diamond Association) and David Rovinsky from Gregg Ruth will lead the discussion about these rare and beautiful precious stones. Refreshments will be available starting at 1:30 PM, and the seminar will be held from 2:00 – 3:00 PM. The program is free and open to the public.

Also featured during the program will be a special display of naturally colored diamond jewelry created by world-renowned designer Gregg Ruth, known for his “important jewels.” This particular display will only be available on October 7th 1:00 – 5:00 PM.

In nature, diamonds are found in a wide array of colors such as gray, brown, yellow, pink, blue, green, purple and orange. The rarest and most expensive naturally colored diamond of all is red. However, choosing a colored diamond is very different from choosing a white diamond, and price is determined by specific attributes that are unique to these stones. This seminar will provide important information about selecting and determining the quality of colored diamonds.

Whether you are interested in finding the ideal colored diamond or just have a curiosity about one of nature’s most beautiful wonders, you will learn something special from this seminar.

Naturally colored diamonds have recently been widely publicized because they were selected by several well-known celebrities, most recently Brad Pitt, as gifts to celebrate very important life events such as engagements and births. Please join us on October 7th to find out what all of the fuss is about.

The Roman Jewelers Flemington store is located in Renaissance Plaza, 39 Hwy 12, Flemington NJ 08822 (Telephone: 908-782-8240, www.romanjewelers.com)
