

eProfessors/ePractitioners Partner for Entrepreneurship Projects

Date: 11-01-2007 06:38 PM CET

Category: Associations & Organizations

Press release from: Enitiative Project

Agency: University College of Syracuse University

Syracuse — Twenty professors and practitioners have been chosen to launch the first “Enitiative” projects – the Syracuse Campus-Community Entrepreneurship Initiative, which connects campus and community organizations by providing entrepreneurship grants to fund ideas for revitalizing Central New York in the areas of technology, neighborhoods, and the arts. The projects were made possible by a grant awarded to SU from the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation.

The “eProfessors” and “ePractitioners” have been selected from campuses and organizations in the CNY area and will play significant leadership roles in teaching, research, and service within their respective disciplines. The eProfessors and ePractitioners will engage in entrepreneurship projects that involve faculty, students, and community members. They will serve 2-year terms, and each receives up to $20,000 to support their Enitiative project.

A 5-year, $3-million Kauffman Campuses SM Initiative endowment will enable the coalition of committed academic and community partners to incorporate entrepreneurship into every facet of advancing SU’s Scholarship in Action vision throughout Central New York.

Enitiative focuses on entrepreneurship in the arts, technology, and our neighborhoods. To learn more about Enitiative, visit www.entrepreneurship.syr.edu.

Eileen T. Jevis
Manager, Public Relations
University College
700 University Ave
Syracuse, NY 13244

Stacey Keefe
Syracuse University
Executive Director, Center for Entrepreneurship Experiential Learning
245 Hinds Hall
Syracuse, NY 13244

Syracuse University is a private higher education institution focused on promoting learning and a positive campus culture. Syracuse University supports scholarly learning, endorses a culturally and socially diverse climate, values personal and academic honesty, and a safe and healthy environment for each member of its community.

You can find this press release here