Press release from: Deitel & Associates, Inc.

Maynard, MA, November 13, 2007—Deitel & Associates has released its new Facebook® Developer Platform Resource Center—an extensive set of online resources for programmers and businesses looking to build and monetize Facebook Applications. "Facebook was the first social networking company to open its platform to the public," said Abbey Deitel, President of Deitel and Associates. "This initiative enables developers to build and monetize their own applications. Our Resource Center introduces you to numerous developer tools and monetization techniques through the Facebook Developer Platform resources, videos, wikis, articles, tutorials and more."

The Facebook Developer Platform Resource Center, available at www.deitel.com/FacebookDeveloperPlatform/, includes links to Facebook Developer Platform tools for building Facebook applications, articles, existing applications, guides to developing applications and more. Deitel has several related Resource Centers, including Internet Advertising, Social Networking, Facebook Social Ads™, Affiliate Programs, Monetization, Java™ and Web Services. Its Social Graph Resource Center will be released this week.
