

Softing Media Engineering unveils innovation in dream-interpretative software

Date: 01-18-2008 05:30 PM CET

Category: IT, New Media & Software

Press release from: Softing Media Engineering

Softing Media Engineering, a global software development company, has announced the launch of its latest software innovation, I CHING DREAMTELLER.

I CHING DREAMTELLER is a program that helps users easily interpret the meaning of their dreams using the ancient Chinese practice of I CHING and the Book of Changes. With its Dream Interpretation Wizard, the program leads the user to the correct oracle within the Book of Changes with a series of step-by-step on-screen instructions, yielding over 400 different dream interpretations.

The program also features linguistics software that has over 85% natural language processing ability and the ability to interpret an endless number of dream variations that a user inputs in his/her own words. I CHING DREAMTELLER's semantic network supports both English and German, and therefore processes interpretations in both languages.

Additionally, I CHING DREAMTELLER offers added privacy and security when storing data within the program. The Dream Content Archive allows a user to save a dream and its content with a security password, providing extra assurance against unauthorized access to the user's dreams.

The design and features of I CHING DREAMTELLER allows users to skip the complex procedures of traditional I CHING and substitute a simple-to-use program for the entire process. The easy-to-follow layout of on-screen instructions allow dreams to be decoded in a matter of minutes. I CHING DREAMTELLER gives users a reliable point of reference each time a user has a dream or dream reoccurrence that makes a particular impact on the user.

I CHING DREAMTELLER is now available on www.ichingdreamteller.com. Free demo also available.

Press Contact:

Vesna Budzevski

Marketing Manager

vesna.budzevski@niniva.com

Softing Media Engineering

142 Milford Street

Rochester, NY 14615

+1 303 800 5398

www.ichingdreamteller.com

www.softing-media.com

Softing Media Engineering is a software company specializing in creative development of software for targeted user needs. Implementing the know-how and innovative genius of a development team that spans from the US to Germany and Eastern Europe, Softing Media Engineering creates products that help people discover solutions for their specific information needs.

The company stands behind a portfolio that includes products such as NameYourBaby, KIBRITS Game, and Find On Internet.

You can find this press release here