Press release from: Perfect Earth Tours

On May 28th, 2008 the world's first 99% organically sustainable high end luxury Adventure Eco Spa & Resort in the mountains of the Yukon Territory of Canada will open its door to the public. Through out the season we will have the generous musical support of over 15 Grammy winners at our luxury Adventure Eco Spa & Resort. Our opening ceremony will include a North American native dance ceremony and blessing of the grounds. It will also include well known artists and performers from around the globe.

The reason for us wishing to showcase our PET (Perfect Earth Tours) through your media outlet is the fact that we have created what many experts in the tourism industry seem to think is too costly and not possible – a 99% organic luxury Eco Spa & Resort.

There is no “Green washing” here. This is the real green deal - with a classy touch of sophisticated luxury.

It is profitable – in so many ways - to be earth friendly. We have chosen to be the best and inspire the rest!

Our goal is to prove it is very possible to operate a luxury Eco Spa & Resort which has almost no negative environmental impact on our Mother Earth. All guests who decide to spend a few days with us will do so having had a positive “net” effect on our environment while experiencing the utmost in sophistication and luxury. These guests will go home with a newly (re)found appreciation of their home planet. Hopefully this trip will then inspire them to keep contributing to the well being of all, instead of always just “expecting”!

Our concept has taken on a life of its own. Our perseverance and research into the production and availability of everything organic, sustainable and luxurious needed, to build a resort such as ours, has given our suppliers the opportunity to find new markets for their products and services.

We strongly believe there is a story to be told here, a story that will benefit many people who are contemplating becoming entrepreneurs, but may be concerned about their impact on the environment.

More importantly there is a story to be told about the possibility of indulging in luxury whilst on your holiday and at the same time contributing positively to the world we will be leaving behind for our children.

We believe, that now - more than ever, everyone should try and do whatever is in their personal and corporate power to help and conserve what little is left of pristine places on our Mother Earth. The Yukon territory in Canada is one of these pristine environments.

PERFECT EARTH TOURS Spa & Resort

is the world leader when it comes to the combination of Eco Spa luxury and sustainability. NO OTHER SPA offer such a uncompromising stand on ecological awareness and first class customer service and appreciation. We know what it takes to make you feel special, while fully appreciating the fragility of our environment.
