

Second Life: Value of Linden-Dollar rises against the Euro

Date: 04.04.2008 - 12:28

Category: IT, New Media & Software

Press release from: euroSLEX

On Tuesday and Wednesday, renewed uncertainty regarding the future of the world economy led to a sharp drop in the world stock markets. At the same time, the Euro fell against the US Dollar, and also against the Linden-Dollar, which is de facto tied to the US dollar.

Says Iliana Suppan, managing director of Virtual World Services GmbH: "This is good news for owners of Linden-Dollars: At our exchange 'euroSLEX', you now get 1 Euro for only about 390 Linden-Dollars, which may be a good opportunity to 'cash in' and convert your Lindens to Euro."

euroSLEX offers a fast and direct exchange between the Linden-Dollar and European currencies, with payouts directly to a bank account or PayPal account.

Company: Virtual World Services GmbH
Address: Andreas-Hofer-Platz 7, 8010 Graz, Austria
Managing Director: Iliana Suppan
E-Mail: suppan@virtualworldservices.eu
Website: www.euroslex.com

About euroSLEX:

euroSLEX is the „European Second Life Exchange“, a true currency exchange for trading Linden$ against the Euro, British Pound, and Swiss Franc. The current price as determined by the market forces of supply and demand gives euroSLEX customers access to the best price available under current market conditions. The fully automatic trading platform at www.euroslex.com reduces manual intervention to a minimum, which means lowest commissions of just 0.5% to 2.5%, depending on trading volume. The service is operated by Virtual World Services GmbH, a real-world company registered in Austria with the mission to bring a new level of professionalism and trust to Second Life.

You can find this press release here