

Advance Intel on Multi-billion Navy Networks (NMCI) Re compete Contract

Date: 04-01-2008 12:41 PM CET

Category: Business, Economy, Finances, Banking & Insurance

Press release from: netXccel Inc

fedXccel, the leader in federal contracts intelligence, will host the “NMCI Re compete: What does the Navy want?” federal contracts briefing on April 02, 2008.

The FREE briefing will be held online from 12:00 pm eastern to 1:30pm, and is open to businesses interested in getting a head start on the contract solicitation expected Fall 2008.

The one-hour webinar shall include presentations by US Federal and Navy experts, with intimate knowledge about acquisitions, communications technologies and business development. “We at fedXccel have assembled a strong team of experts to guide Federal Executives on how to get prepared for this incredibly large procurement,” said Gaurav “GP” Pal, fedXccel Chief. “Early federal contracts intelligence is key to winning business in a competitive environment”.

fedXccel has completed a detailed research effort on key issues surrounding this re compete opportunity. The Free webinar briefing helps businesses gain valuable insight into how the contract might shape up and what kinds of capabilities might be required from both large and small businesses.

Visit www.fedXccel.com to learn more and register.

netXccel, Inc.
9700 Great Seneca Highway, #152
Rockville, MD 20850

Gaurav "GP" Pal
netXccel, Inc.
(301) 217 0023

netXccel, Inc. is an award winning provider of comprehensive and affordable federal contracts intelligence. fedXccel is a product by netXccel, serving the US Federal Marketplace. fedXccel helps companies find and win federal business through early and actionable intelligence on federal contracts. fedXccel's experienced research team has decades of federal procurement, business development and market research experience and has developed a proprietary technique to help companies win new business.

You can find this press release here