OLD-FASHIONED CIVILITY

We strive everyday to provide the best, most customer-friendly and fastest personal service in the incorporation business. We've been doing it, and well, for about twenty years.

Our responsibility to you include (1) treating you with respect and courtesy, (2) preparing your paperwork in accordance with your instructions in a fast and efficient manner, and (3) should a mistake be made (and although it is rare, it will happen) rectifying it to the best of our ability.

In turn, we expect that our clients will (1) treat our staff with respect and courtesy, (2) plainly communicate that which they wish to purchase and (3) when a mistake is made by them (and although rare, it also happens), that they will be honest enough to admit it in order that we both may try to rectify the problem.

Working cooperatively and with mutual civility, the client's enterprise will get started fast and on the right track.
