Press release from: ABAS Software AG

ABAS Software, a leading provider of cost-effective ERP and eBusiness solutions, announces that Stejasa of Madrid, Spain has implemented abas ERP for manufacturing companies. Project support was given by software partner Abas Business Solutions Ibérica.

The decision to implement abas ERP was made based on ABAS's well-established reputation supporting the mechanical engineering industry and the proven quality of its fully-function ERP system.

"With abas, we successfully reengineered our business processes," states CEO, Juan Manuel Victorio, "Thanks to the integrated cost accounting, transparency in my company has increased considerably. I am now able to see both the cost and efficiency of our projects. What was previously time-consuming back office labor, is now one simple and automated process."

Stejasa is a leading manufacturing from the mechanical engineering industry, with over 30 years of experience producing damping elements and expansion bellows for applications in the industrial, chemical and energy sectors. With manufacturing sites spanning five continents and a team of highly qualified engineers and technicians, Stejasa is well-positioned to offer its customers top-notch maintenance, monitoring and repair service, and supply them with aftermarket parts for custom-designed equipment.
