(Fayetteville, NC) May 19, 2008 Web Hosting provider AIT (www.AIT.com/?pdkw=pr-fr-05-19-2008) today launched a feature packed, dedicated server suite that combines high performance and premium 24x7x365 live support with dedicated administrators certified in both Linux and Windows. AIT's Cisco-powered Tier 1 Network features a 93,000 SF state-of-the-art data center and carriers such as Level 3 and Time Warner Telecom. "We have teams of experts around the clock so if something goes wrong at 2 AM, clients don't have to wait hours for service. This is about guaranteeing dedicated support for our customers and managing their mission-critical IT environments and infrastructures," said Mike Roberts, CIO for AIT. "We guarantee network and server uptime with immediate hardware replacement for our enterprise customers."

AIT's promise is customers don't need to worry about their hosting – they manage everything so the customer can concentrate on productivity and revenues. When you host with AIT, implementation, customization, troubleshooting, patching, monitoring, administering, back-up, and support are their responsibility. "For anyone with a mission critical hosting requirement, AIT is the place to host," said Bob Ervin, Associate VP of Learning Technology for FTCC. "Our distance learning platform supports over 10,000 students and teachers and AIT handles our application and database management. I have direct access to a dedicated representative and can even call the CIO or CEO anytime if we have issues."

Standard features of the Enterprise Hosting Suites include no setup fees, massive disk space, 2.9 GHz processor, 1 gig of memory, virtualization, free domain registration, and over 100 free tools. We are also including Hosted Exchange email accounts, a FREE website builder, and Meeting Bowl, an online collaboration application to facilitate your business needs. "No other web hosting company anywhere is offering a comparable plan at our price point", said John Horton, VP of Sales and Marketing.
