Led by Jiangsu Provincial People's Government, the attention-grabbing event "China International Logistics Technology and Services Expo" (also known as Logistics World 2007) has become one of the largest logistics shows in 2007. With escalated international level in the upcoming edition, the organizer announced to change the show name to "China (Nanjing) International Logistics Expo 2008 & 2nd Sino-American Logistics Conference – International Logistics Forum" (also known as "Logistics World 2008"). The show is elevated by being moved to Nanjing, the provincial capital of Jiangsu Province, and will be held from Nov 19 to 21, 2008 at the Nanjing International Expo Center, Nanjing, Jiangsu Province, P R China. Exhibitor's recruitment and show promotion is now in full swing.

Jiangsu Province is one of the key manufacturing hubs in the world and is the rising star of modern logistics development base in China. Nanjing, the provincial capital, serves as an important transportation and communication hub of the East China region. With global leading cargo shelves & warehousing technology and workshop equipment, Nanjing is well known for its well-developed traffic network and huge road capacity, as well as 5 logistics bases, namely Longtan, Wangjiawan-Dingjiazhuang, Lukou airport, Muyan metal materials and Jiangbei chemicals. All these factors contribute Nanjing to be the strategic location for staging Logistic World 2008. Organizers express that they are striving for the largest, most professional and international sourcing platform for enterprises in East China and Yangtze River Delta Area by providing cutting edge logistics technology and latest market information.

Authorized by Jiangsu Provincial People's Government, Logistics World 2008 is organized by the Economic & Trade Commission of Jiangsu Province, Department of Foreign Trade and Economic Cooperation, Jiangsu Provincial Government and Jiangsu Science and Technology Department, and co-organized by Jiangsu New International Convention & Exhibition (Group) Co., Ltd, Jiangsu Province Science and Technology Exchange Center with Foreign Countries and Beijing Yazhan Exhibition Services Ltd. Adsale Exhibition Services Limited, with 30 years of extensive experience in organizing trade fairs in China, is appointed as the show's overseas organizer. The exhibiting area of Logistics World 2008 is expected to exceed 25,000 sqm, with 4 highlighted topics featuring "Forklift and Transport System", "Shelves and Storage System", "Special Logistics Equipment and Technology" and "Logistics Services and Technology". Organizers believed the comprehensive exhibits could fulfill different needs of buyers who come from different industries.

Additionally, various high level concurrent events will be held during the show. It includes 2nd Sino-American Logistics Conference, Singapore Logistics Day, Visiting Day of Shanghai Logistics Managers Club, Logistics Equipment and Services

Matching Meeting, Logistics Project Investment and Finance Conference, as well as activities tailored-made for visiting delegations of The Chamber of Hong Kong Logistics Industry and Hong Kong Association of Freight Forwarding and Logistics. All these activities will definitely bring exhibitors plenty of unmatched business opportunities.
