Landshut – Houston July 2008: The creation of WebParts for IT IS activigence 2007 can now occur considerably faster using IT IS Forms Builder. Simply convert your standard NAV tables or forms into Web Parts and modify them using the built in graphic editor.

Portal and shops for ERP-systems are becoming increasingly more important for middle and large sized companies. IT IS activigence 2007 excels in flexibility and adaptability for this purpose. IT IS activigence allows for limitless communication with customers, suppliers and field reps over the intranet, extranet or internet.

SharePoint or ASP.net models are based upon Web Parts technology. Within IT IS activigence, up to now their creation and configuration was simple by using a table like interface. Now the IT IS Forms Builder for IT IS activigence 2007 gives you a new tool for the even simpler, accelerated and more accurate creation of Web Parts. The creation as well as modification is performed very quick and is intuitive using the built in graphic editor. The user interface can be used without any programming knowledge to create Web Parts from current standard-like Dynamics NAV forms.

An added benefit to you is the way that IT IS forms builder functions by using a NAV forms with a simple export to make the configuration within the graphic editor a very smooth process. The results are saved and defined as a request type which are the basics elements for IT IS activgence 2007 and are then immediately accessible. Of course the further refinement at the configuration level is possible to attain the desired results.

The IT IS forms builder is a major decisive step in web application capabilities for the Microsoft Dynamics NAV systems which leads to even simpler and faster configuration of the portal structure for the customer and the partner.
