Hamilton, Ontario - August 14th 2008 - Levert Marketing, a Canadian Internet marketing company specialized in social media marketing, PPC management and SEO services announces the extension of its business to the most popular online social networks.

Since launching its new corporate website last June, the Internet marketing company from Hamilton, ON has been working on solidifying its online presence and is now taking another step forward going social.

Since the beginning of August, Levert Marketing has been opening accounts and networking on popular social networks such as Facebook, MySpace and MyBlogLog. Business contacts, colleagues and potential customers can now communicate and exchange ideas with the Levert Marketing team in a way that was not possible before.

“Since launching our new website, things have been going pretty much as expected”, says founder Frank Levert. “It’s been a lot of work but we have been gaining ground in all major search engines and are now at the point where we can start interacting a little more with people and let them know what Levert Marketing is all about”.

In the next few weeks, the company is planning to increase activity on its Internet marketing blog so people that are part of the company’s social network can learn and share their thoughts on Internet marketing. “We believe this is a good way to generate interest into our company and reach new untapped markets”, says Mr. Levert. “We haven’t been spending too much time blogging since launching our new website because before spending time and energy writing content, we wanted to have enough people to reach with it and social networks that we are on are now giving us that opportunity”, adds Levert.
