

Revamp for Timeshare Forum

Date: 03-06-2006 12:33 PM CET

Category: Tourism, Cars, Traffic

Press release from: The Timeshare Forum

The Timeshare Forum has released the latest version of its industry leading website with a whole new look and feel as well as a host of extra features.

The contemporary new format includes a number of innovations designed to provide a more interactive experience for the end user.

A new graphic design package brings the site's whole look and feel up to date whilst a revamped navigation bar gives the user a simple and straightforward way to move between the different pages

These all new pages include a constantly updated news section reporting on all the Timeshare gossip from around the world as well as a news feed covering all aspects of global travel and tourism. There is also a busy forum section where anyone can share their experiences, have their say and interact with other interested parties.

Timesharebob, one of the site's moderators, explained how the website can be a great tool for everyone with connections to the industry: "the great thing about this site is that it really is a platform for everyone. People from inside the industry as well as owners of the various products out there can share their experiences and help the spread of information about this increasingly popular way of holidaying.

"We are always on the lookout for regular contributors to compliment our team of writers and help us get a broader view about what is happening around the world. In the coming months we will be adding a Resorts Review section and there will be some in-depth interviews with a number of industry insiders".

Other areas of this useful portal include explanations about the various products on the market today and a links section where the user can click through to an ever increasing number of Timeshare and travel related websites.

The Timeshare Forum provides up to date news and information about all aspects of the Timeshare industry including an interactive forum.

The Timeshare Forum

www.thetimeshareforum.com

00 34 699 146 107

Julian Marks

email: julianmarks@gmail.com

You can find this press release here