Coastal Vacations Concluded their largest and most productive Conference ever in Florida this week. The top rated home based business invited members from over 70 countries and many made the pilgrimage and braved the spring break crowds at the Walt Disney World Resort. Coastal Vacations Director Dean Marino reports that a new attendance record was set at this conference for the eleven year old home based business. Although exact numbers were not available, Marino reports that one of the largest ballrooms at Disney's Contemporary Resort was required to accommodate the group.

This was by far the most productive conference. New sales tools were introduced. For the first time a Spanish language sales tool was released. Several new vacations as well as a new membership card were unveiled, and other vacations and cruises were improved. New ports of departure were added to the complimentary cruises including Seward, Alaska and Vancouver, British Columbia. A new cruise program with Royal Caribbean was announced. This was the first time ever that a podcast originated right from the meeting room so members unable to make the journey and those considering a career with Coastal were able to keep up with all the news. The podcast included interviews with many of the speakers including Todd Falcone, Doug Firebaugh, Jason Cole, and Board of Directors member and conference call host Al Romine.

Marino was still excited at the conclusion of the event, Marino hosts prospect Q&A conference calls and training calls for the Coastal Vacations Sales Center, the fastest growing group in the Coastal program. He also co-hosted all the podcast segments that originated from the conference. Marino explained; "I expected the new DVD and an upgrade to our Disney vacation, but six new vacations and an incredible membership card that gives members access to International Association of Travel Agents (IATA) numbers and additional travel agency discounts were added to our least expensive membership. The DVD is better than ever and it's in Spanish too. The new testimonial CD was a great surprise. It includes copies of actual receipts for tax only and deeply discounted travel. My challenge, now, is that I have to find a way to summarize all of this on the one hour training call I host."

Marino was happy to obtain preview copies of the new DVD and CD presentation for his group members. He explained "Some of my members have earned $9000 and even $12,000 in one night with the old DVD having in-home parties. Other members have produced sales by distributing the old DVD to interested prospects. Our group has many members in Mexico, Spain, South America, and Central America and I know the Spanish DVD will be a valuable tool.

Marino expects his Coastal Vacations Sales Center group to continue to grow at an incredible pace with all the new changes and upgrades.
