"Natural Bodybuilders seeking results can close the gap between steroid induced bodybuilders by training more intelligently," says Beverly Hills Exercise Physiologist Jim O'Connor. A typical natural bodybuilder makes a decision, early on, that steroids are not going to be in the cards. They make a wise decision to do it naturally. Therefore, instead of gaining an extra advantage by popping pills, and injecting needles, natural bodybuilders need to rely on extra smart training principles that will give them steroid like results.

Natural enthusiasts looking for all the answers can now fire up their computers and quickly learn the secret tips, tricks, and training strategies all from the comfort of their own homes, or offices. Jim O'Connor, a Beverly Hills celebrity fitness authority, is passionate about promoting drug free, natural bodybuilding as a result of his bodybuilder friend's death. Therefore, he created www.NaturalBodybuildingInfo.com as a free resource where natural bodybuilders can congregate to get the latest bodybuilding information, news, and helpful resources.

Mr. O'Connor feels it is of vital importance for the drug free bodybuilder to empower themselves with intelligence." Training smart is like taking steroids," O'Connor says. He strongly feels the results gap can decrease considerably between the steroid user who doesn't train with intelligence, and the informed intelligent, natural athlete.

Visitors to www.NaturalBodybuildingInfo.com are recommended to do the following: bookmark the site because valuable content is updated regularly, stay informed by signing up for their free multimedia health, fitness, and bodybuilding newsletter, and also subscribe to one of the RSS feeds. By doing the things mentioned above, visitors will have the best chance to staying informed on the current cutting edge information, and news events added daily. It is also advised to visit the websites blog for even more natural news.

Bodybuilders who make the healthy, safe decision to do it naturally are encouraged to get an inside advantage by educating themselves at www.NaturalBodybuildingInfo.com . After all, it is far more powerful, and safe to use intelligence to build muscle compared to life threatening anabolic steroids.
