Melle, Germany, April 8, 2009: Project Management has gone mobile. Project management consultants, ProjectWizards, is pleased to announce the release of Merlin iPhone 1.0, the official mobile companion product for Merlin, along with the public beta release of Merlin 2.7, the award-winning professional project management solution for Mac OS X. These two products combine to take project management mobile, allowing one to work on their Merlin projects anytime, from anywhere. This release also delivers enhanced networking performance and introduces support for Merlin Server, an upcoming companion product for Merlin available soon.

“With the release of Merlin iPhone 1.0 and Merlin 2.7 beta, Merlin projects are now accessible from your Apple iPhone and iPod touch,” says ProjectWizards’ CEO Frank Blome. “This release is taking project management mobile. Project managers can now manage their projects using the familiar and highly-intuitive Merlin interface while, quite literally, on the go.”

“Merlin 2.7 when combined with the upcoming release of Merlin Server, will result in a more robust, centralized solution for project teams,” says Blome. “We’ve not only enhanced the Merlin Web Module to deliver improved network performance for small teams, but we will soon have Merlin Server to further solidify Merlin as a preferred solution for the enterprise.

In addition to the network performance enhancements and support for Merlin iPhone and Merlin Server, Merlin 2.7 includes enhancements to increase stability, ease of use, and overall performance.
