Dallas, TX, June 03, 2009 / -- ZeitEnergy, LLC., a leading provider of CNG fueling solutions in Texas and Nationwide, announced today the addition of Lynn Hughey to lead ZeitEnergy's Contracting, Construction Management, and Construction Consulting efforts throughout the United States. Mr. Hughey comes to ZeitEnergy with over twenty years of direct experience overseeing CNG station construction and is well known throughout the industry.

"Municipalities and Private Fleet Owners with a bottom line focus are looking to cut costs and improve the reliability of their CNG fueling infrastructure," said Patrick, VP Engineering and Operations. "Leaders such as the State of Utah and the City of Los Angeles Water Department have turned to ZeitEnergy to provide them with the highest level of technical expertise and proven business practices. After conducting a national search that identified several superbly qualified candidates we have decided that Lynn Hughey is our choice to lead our Construction Management Department"

About ZeitEnergy, LLC.

ZeitEnergy, LLC. (ZE) was created to help municipalities and private fleet owners fully experience the benefits available from compressed natural gas (CNG) as an alternative to diesel and gasoline. ZE targets all sizes of municipal and private fleet customers who are looking for solutions not biased towards specific equipment manufacturers or natural gas providers. ZE offers a potent combination of technical and financial expertise in the CNG fueling business. With over 46 years of combined experience in CNG fueling, ZeitEnergy's team takes the mystery out of CNG.
