Car rental company VictoriaCars from Spain foresees shortage on rental cars at it's main Mediterranean airports for summer 2009.

Victoria Rent a Car's clients have been informed already in the middle of May that the current vehicle fleet for car hire Murcia (www.victoriacars.com/car-hire/car-hire-murcia.html/) and car hire Alicante will be maxed rapidly during high season 2009.

Holidaymakers who are looking for last minute offers could experience a nasty surprise by waiting too long for making their reservation. Especially popular holiday resorts as those on Costa Blanca will be affected by car hire scarcity, says Jose Luís Garrote, reservation supervisor for VictoriaCars. As most clients arrive by plane, it is clear that the company's main airport branches, Alicante – El Altet, Murcia – San Javier on Costa Blanca, as well as car hire in Madrid will first run out of cars, so Jose.

In either case, it is advisable to book the rental car on line and arrive with a confirmed booking voucher than to look for remnant offers on the spot, wasting time and nerves.

Booking at Victoriacars.com is easy and is done in 3 steps: After having chosen the pick up and drop off details, the customer gets a current price list with all car groups which are available at the selected destination. To get the holiday car hire booked, the customer must only select between the extras and insurance he/ she will need, fill in the required personal data and confirm the booking. Once the customer receives a confirmation email, the car hire issue can be taken down the holiday's to do list.

Spain enthusiasts and bargain hunters are encouraged to check availability for car hire Alicante (www.victoriacars.com/car-hire/car-hire-alicante.html/) now.

Moreover and to preclude dissatisfaction of loyal customers, VictoriaCars launched a special offer which rewards early birds with extra discounts. For on line reservations on Victoriacars.com 15 to 30 days in advance, there is already 1% discount on the final price. For bookings from 31 to 60 days in advance 2% will be discounted and for those who want to play safe and book their car more than 60 days in advance receive additionally 3% discount.
