Press release from: Globe Business College Munich

Munich, 22 June, 2009 – Globe Business College Munich will offer the internationally recognised Diploma, accredited by Edexcel (the largest validating body in the UK), as of June, 2009.

According to Dr. Susan Walsh, Dean of the Globe Business College Munich, “The Diploma is unique on the German market due to its flexibility, international recognition and practical orientation. In the current economic climate, everyone is aware of the value of further education. Not everyone however, is in a position to commit to a lengthy, expensive Master programme. This Edexcel Diploma is an ideal alternative, as it can be undertaken over a three to nine month period, is competitively priced, very practical in nature and can be used as the stepping-stone to Masters study at a later date.”

GBCM and Edexcel Cooperate to Introduce the APD Programme to the German Market

The Advanced Professional Diploma is suited to individuals working in any functional area of the company whose contribution to the firm would benefit from a broader, more in-depth knowledge of business and management. The programme is designed for individuals who possess either an undergraduate degree or extensive work experience and are looking to develop their business competencies and skills. As a Level 7 UK Accredited National Framework qualification, the Advanced Professional Diploma is recognised by prestigious UK and international universities. Upon completion of the programme, holders of the Diploma can choose to continue their education from a range of top-up Master programmes.

Flexibility to Meet the Market’s Needs

The programme is run over 9 months with courses taking place one weekend per month, from Friday to Sunday (full time options of 3 or 6 months are also available). A rolling admission means that new participants can join at the beginning of each month. The cost of the entire programme is 6,150 Euros (paid in quarterly instalments).
