G2G3, (g2g3.com), the leading provider of simulations and readiness programs, today announced a strategic partnership with training and consulting firm, Cadence ITSM.

US based, Cadence ITSM, (www.cadence-itsm.com), will license three dynamic simulations from the G2G3 ready-to-go simulation product suite, including the IT Service Management simulation, Polestar ITSM as well as G2G3's Project Management simulation, Polestar PM and G2G3's latest version of the MOF (Microsoft Office Framework) 4.0 simulation, McKinley IT Pro.

These exciting simulations will make up an integral part of the Cadence ITSM portfolio and will help drive its training business.

G2G3 simulations are high-impact, interactive business games which have been developed to address the process and cultural challenges of implementing best practice processes including ITIL V3, Project Management and MOF 4.0. This unique approach to business learning brings best practice to life in the context of realistic and exhilarating scenarios. Participants quickly experience breakthrough understanding of best practice processes and methodologies resulting in improved individual, team and overall business performance.

McKinley IT Pro is based around an exciting international traffic hub, requiring IT management of complex air, rail, road and sea links. Both Polestar ITSM and Polestar PM are facilitated over one day in the fast world of global online retail.

Cadence ITSM offers a full range of training and consulting services in IT Service Management practices, leveraging public best practice frameworks and methods such as ITIL, Cobit, and Lean Six Sigma. Based in Minnesota, Cadence ITSM has clients from coast-to-coast in the United States, ranging across the public, private and governmental sectors.

CEO at G2G3, Mark Ross Sutherland commented: "We are delighted to have Cadence ITSM join our partner community. Our simulations are extremely powerful at communicating the value of best practice and I am confident that they will add significant value to it's training and consulting portfolio".

"We pride ourselves in the fact that our trainers and consultants have real-world IT leadership experience to ground their expert level certifications. The G2G3 simulations perfectly compliment the value we place on bridging the theoretical and real-world divide," said Ryan Ballmer, owner and principal consultant at Cadence ITSM. "These incredibly powerful simulations capture many roles and perspectives in a single setting, complete with real-world breakdowns in processes and communications – simply one of the most eye-opening days you can spend in a training session. Participants leave these events with a real sense of the transformative power of Service Management."
