WRS Italia, company specialised in the production and management of waste recycling systems, is proud to introduce various news which have enriched last May the dynamic business of the Italian company. By giving a glance at last month, WRS Italia is the main character in an agreement signed with Hyva Ibérica, well-known Spanish branch of the Dutch global multinational enterprise Hyva which provides innovative transport solutions for the commercial vehicle and environmental services providers industry and owns branches in more than 135 countries in the world.

The agreement, signed on the 21st May 2009, has seen WRS Italia and Hyva Ibérica becoming partners and this event has marked the begin of an intense cooperation between the Italian company and the well-known Spanish branch of Hyva, the Dutch multinational enterprise. The partnership comprises that Hyva Ibérica, buyer and distributor, will purchase systems and machines from WRS Italia and distributes them in the Spanish area; and WRS Italia will continue to design, plan and produce systems which will be sold to Hyva Ibérica.

WRS Italia, well-known and well-established corporate in particular in Italy and other European countries, will commit itself to make more efforts and take up new challenges in order to reach further foreign markets to convey and commercialise its innovative systems and machines and its efficient assistance services. The agreement, signed with Hyva Ibérica, will mark the begin of this important goal, perceived by the company as a motivating force for constantly innovating.

Further to this important agreement, there is an important news which has to be mentioned with regard to an important event that WRS Italia has taken part last month. In fact WRS Italia has participated at Ecocity & Industry 2009, relevant and well-known exhibition in the environmental field, based in Barcelona from 27th to 29th May. The participation at the international event has been ended by giving great international success to WRS Italia. Besides, the fair has seen, together, for the first time Hyva Ibérica and WRS Italia as new business partners.

WRS Italia, well-known Italian enterprise operating in the waste recycling industry, is specialised in the planning, production and assistance of recycling systems and machines. The company has recently signed an agreement with Hyva Ibérica which allows the company to reach and succeed in the Spanish market.
