Nowadays themes related to the energy saving and recycling are relevant and significant topics to be considered to respect and protect the environment. Government, corporate and enterprises, key players in the countries' economies, have a pivotal role in the environment safeguard and objectification of these purposes. Thus, these aims can be realized through the development of innovative systems and machines to involve companies to recycle and preserve the environment.

Hence, WRS Italia has chosen to commit itself in a constant production cycle of new recycling systems in order to provide the market place with cutting edge products to be always able to compete and cooperate with international partners in order to carry out the objective of energy saving and environment protection.

The company has played a main role in two important agreements with two international corporate from Portugal and Venezuela. The agreements have been both signed in July and they concern a cooperation in the WRS Italia recycling systems distribution in the two countries.

As far as the agreement with the Venezuelan group, Euromáquinas CB, C.A., is concerned, it has been stipulated Thursday 2nd July 2009 and envisages a commercial accord in which the Venezuelan company will look after the distribution of WRS Italia recycling systems in Venezuela.

With regard to the Portuguese enterprise Palmac Lda, producer of dynamic technology and wide range of machines in the industrial, farm and forest field, the agreement has been signed on the 6th July 2009 and sees the company as WRS Italia systems distributor in Portugal.

Therefore, these concordances attest either the continuous engagement of WRS Italia in the recycling sector or the passion and devotion to upgrade its commercial activities on its own and with other businesses.

WRS Italia, company specialised in the planning and management of waste recycling systems, lives in the present and looks into the future in a world view.
